WHERE FOOTBALL MEETS INTELLIGENCE

WHO WE ARE

OmniMetrics is a Portugal-based startup using AI and Computer Vision to digitalize football operations, turning clubs into tech innovators.

THE TEAM

Backed by 6+ years of collaboration in AI, research, and software development, experienced in academic R&D, product development, sports and startup execution.

THE PROBLEM

Football generates massive amounts of video data, yet most clubs still rely on manual tagging, delayed analysis, and closed vendor systems.

Valuable insights and innovation opportunities are lost in raw footage.

THE OPPORTUNITY

Advances in AI now make it possible to extract tactical, spatial, and behavioral intelligence directly from video, automatically, in real time, and at scale.

REAL-TIME AI VIDEO ANALYSIS:
TACTICAL, SPATIAL, BEHAVIORAL INTELLIGENCE

OUR SOLUTION

A real-time AI-powered coach assistant that observes matches, understands play, and supports coaching and analysis directly from live footage.

The interface presents the real-time analysis environment, where live tracking data, tactical metrics, and AI-generated insights are unified into a single coaching decision-support dashboard.

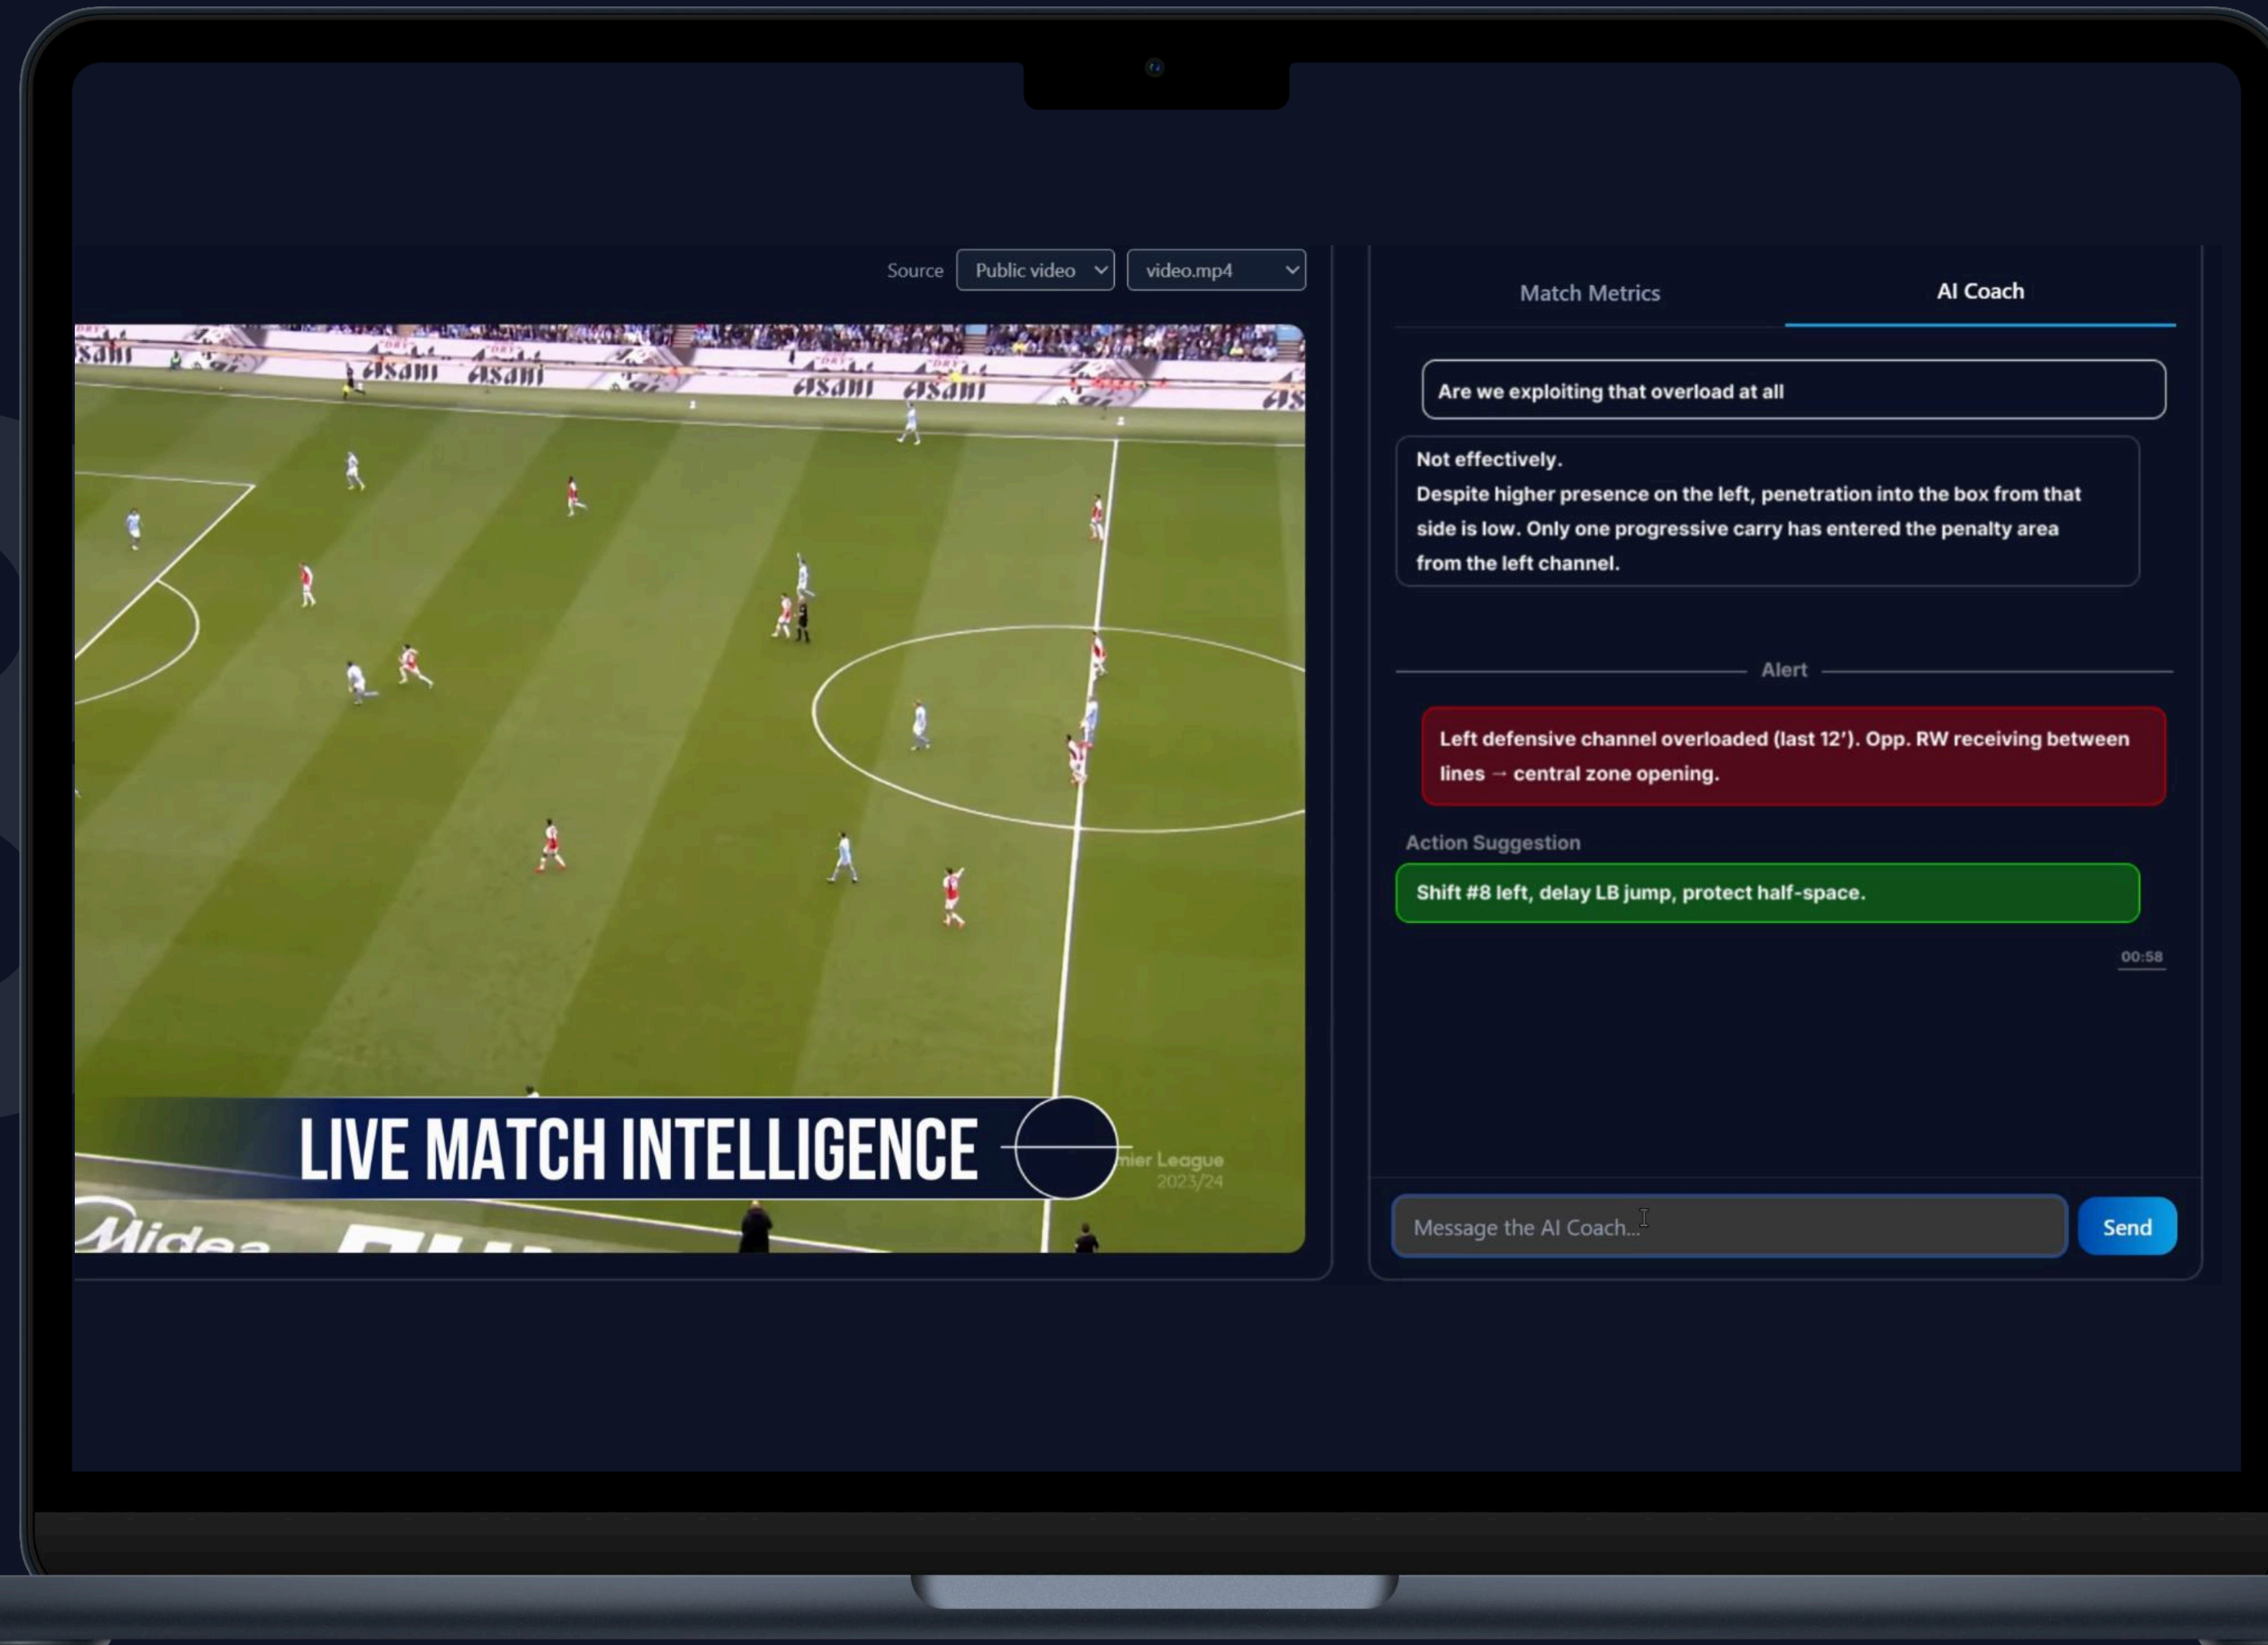

AI-powered computer vision detects and tracks players, the ball, and key on-pitch elements in real-time from the video feed, forming the foundation for the analysis.

Match data is generated instantly, providing coaches with customizable real-time statistics on team shape, player movement, or ball possession.

The platform transforms live metrics into contextual tactical intelligence, alerting the coach on structural anomalies, positional imbalances, behavioral patterns as the match unfolds.

FURTHER APPLICATIONS

Our AI assistant automatically transforms aggregated match intelligence into shareable commentary insights and social media storytelling.
